25 STATEMENT

26
27 This bill amends and supplements the "Farmland Assessment Act 28 (1964)," P.L.1964, c.48 (C.54:4-23.1 et seq.), to provide that five or 29 more noncontiguous acres of land, which are actively devoted to 30 agricultural or horticultural use and which have been in such use for 31 at least the two successive years immediately preceding the tax year 32 in issue, may be eligible for the valuation and assessment of land in 33 agricultural or horticultural use, i.e., farmland assessment, provided 34 that the noncontiguous acres are under the ownership of one person, 35 are located in the same municipality, and meet the other
36 requirements of the Farmland Assessment Act.

37 Under current law and regulation, in order to be eligible for 38 farmland assessment, a minimum of five contiguous acres of land is 39 required to be actively devoted to agricultural or horticultural use.
40 Under this bill, the land would not be required to be contiguous,
41 provided that it is under the ownership of one person and located 42 within one municipality. This would allow a landowner of 43 farmland smaller than five acres in size to combine their 44 noncontiguous farmland owned in the same municipality in order to 45 receive farmland assessment. All other requirements for eligibility 46 for farmland assessment would apply.

47 Furthermore, this bill would bolster agriculture and horticulture
48 in the more developed parts of the State where it is challenging, if

1 not impossible, to devote contiguous acres to agricultural or 2 horticultural purposes. New Jersey, as the most densely populated 3 state in the nation, is highly urbanized and suburbanized with 4 limited opportunities to use its smaller pockets of open space for 5 agriculture and horticulture. Also, the high cost of land in urban 6 areas make the purchase of large single plots prohibitive.
7 Increasing the acreage eligible for farmland assessment would also 8 increase inclusion of a more diverse group of people interested in 9 contributing to the State's agricultural and horticultural sectors, and 10 would support the Vision 2025 plan developed by the New Jersey
11 Agricultural Experiment Station at Rutgers, the State University.

12 The New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station's Vision 2025
13 plan is a system of responsive, innovative, and inclusive programs, 14 farms, stations, and centers that is prioritizing investments in 15 infrastructure, information technology, and equipment designed to 16 enable the expansion and development of cutting-edge programs.
17 The New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station programs, farms, 18 stations, and centers are designed to be national models of 19 responsive, innovative, and inclusive research, education, and 20 outreach that can address grand challenges of the State and broader 21 society, as well as being known for the sustainable management of 22 the land and natural resources these efforts encompass.
